

Working together to promote and expand retirement education programs and communication initiatives for public employees across the country.

Originally founded as the National Preretirement Education Association in 1980, NPEA is now the National Pension Education Association, reflecting the broad goals of the organization to focus on comprehensive retirement education for members of public retirement systems.

We bring retirement system professionals and leading experts together to exchange ideas and share experiences

Simply put, NPEA strives to ensure that dedicated public employees are prepared for a successful retirement.

We provide a forum to educate public retirement system professionals and encourage the ongoing exchange of information, ideas, goals and objectives of retirement planning and member communication.

As a national nonprofit association committed to quality retirement education and communication, we support public retirement systems as they develop programs and services for their members. We challenge experienced counselors, managers and communications officers to measure their services against their peers to achieve greater success.

Through our website, certification opportunities, professional partnerships, and our annual conference, we provide the tools to help retirement professionals meet the ever-changing needs of their members.

About our Annual Conference

As a member, you may participate in the NPEA Annual Conference, which offers an affordable opportunity to stay informed and up to date on retirement education, communications trends, and important issues facing the public retirement community. The conference is a valuable forum that promotes professional development, networking with national peers, and creative approaches to serve your members.

Who should attend the Annual Conference?

- ▶ Retirement counselors and benefit analysts
- ▶ Trainers and program developers
- ▶ Member services and retiree services managers
- ▶ Member education managers, specialists and presenters
- ▶ Communications officers and specialists
- ▶ System directors and executives looking to create, improve or expand member education initiatives

Annual Conference highlights...

- ▶ General sessions with industry experts on the latest issues, trends, and challenges facing the public retirement community for both retirement systems and plan participants
- ▶ Hands-on sessions and discussions that allow participants to share ideas, discuss problems, build a peer network, and to learn from each other
- ▶ Professional development and skill-building sessions and workshops related to educational programs, services and communications issues
- ▶ Continuing education courses and credit offered through our partnership with the International Foundation for Retirement Education (InFRE).

Join us!

- ▶ NPEA membership runs for 12 months beginning January 1.
- ▶ Annual System dues and conference costs are among the lowest in the industry!

To become a member, simply download our membership invoice at npea.com, and complete and return it to the address on the form.
